CALL FOR PAPERS

The United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS) was adopted on 10 December 1982. The UNCLOS is the culmination of decades of intense negotiations, a reflection of carefully balanced compromises, and embodies the lofty ideals and aspirations of coastal States and the rest of humanity. In the face of developments and challenges across various fields of ocean affairs in the Asia-Pacific region and beyond, the Convention has gracefully withstood the test of time and remains one of the most significant, robust, and enduring treaties of all time.

On the occasion of the 40th anniversary of the adoption of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS), the Development of International Law in Asia-Korea (DILA-KOREA) and the Korea Institute of Ocean Science and Technology (KIOST), invite you the 2022 Asia-Pacific Ocean Law Institutions Alliance (APOLIA) Conference to be held on 19 – 20 May 2022. The theme of the conference is “UNCLOS in Asia-Pacific: 40 Years and Onwards.”
